

Cost Basis Method Change—Covered Shares

✓ Use this form to:

- Change the cost basis method on covered securities. "Covered" refers to securities, including mutual funds, that are subject to cost basis reporting on Form 1099-B, such as stocks purchased on or after January 1, 2011; mutual fund shares purchased on or after January 1, 2012; less complex bonds and options purchased on or after January 1, 2014; and more complex bonds and options purchased on or after January 1, 2016. Cost basis is not maintained on IRAs; Education Savings Accounts (ESAs); or, generally, money market accounts.

This monitor indicates this can be done online.

This paper clip indicates you may need to attach documentation.

Visit troweprice.com/costbasis for information on cost basis. You may also receive the following free IRS publications by calling 800-829-3676 or visiting irs.gov: IRS Publication 551, Basis of Assets; IRS Publication 564, Mutual Fund Distributions; and IRS Publication 550, Investment Income and Expenses.

X Do not use this form to:

- Add or change cost basis for noncovered securities. "Noncovered" refers to securities, including mutual funds, that are not subject to cost basis reporting on Form 1099-B, such as stocks purchased prior to January 1, 2011; mutual fund shares purchased prior to January 1, 2012; less complex bonds and options purchased prior to January 1, 2014; and more complex bonds and options purchased prior to January 1, 2016. To add or change cost basis for noncovered securities, use the Cost Basis Change—Noncovered Shares form.
